MATERIAL GIRL

Spanish artist María Torroba has turned her focus from watercolour studies of nature to oils and collages inspired by Renaissance portraits, incorporating Belgian linens, antique lace, ribbons and shells she has collected. Admire her work at London's Stephanie Hoppen Gallery (stephaniehoppen.com).

Don't miss! Observe 150 craftspeople at work at the Art in Action fair in the grounds of Waterperry House, Oxfordshire. Painting, pottery and glassblowing are just some of the disciplines on show, and you can meet the artists as well as buy from them. This year's event includes a focus on Commonwealth artists to celebrate the Diamond Jubilee. July 19-22 (artinaction.org.uk).

NAME TO KNOW

We recently spotted the work of Dutch designer Kirstie van Noort, who graduated from Design Academy Eindhoven.
